Cases of sabotage spread out like bushfires
(from: Frankfurter Rundschau, 15/8/1986)

According to Hans Neussel, State Secretary in Ferderal Ministry of the Interior, the left wing spectrum has a new slogan: "Sabotage instead of demonstrations." The police has registered 236 attempts of burning and bomb laying since the beginning of the year (1985=161). The targets are facilities of the energy and nuclear industry, the federal train and the building trade, if it transact with a military or nuclear branch. This year groups like "Sawing cells" or "Strike off the shit" cut off 45 high tension poles.
"Every second day I receive an announcement about the damage of building machines", reports Neussel. "Building trades, that somehow take part in nuclear or military constructions, have to calculate with the destruction of their machines or their stocks. This branch could damage the whole german economy."
Neussel gave an explanation for the growing readyness to take part in violation against things. A part of the left wing may be "frustrated, because the demonstrations lead to nothing."
According to Neussel, the new strategy to capture the legal militants ("Weekend-terrorists) - high rewards from the industry (!) - could break the solidarity of the scene.

Attempts, Sabotage, Resistance
(from: Arbeiterkampf 274, 22/9/1986)
The political police reports that a growing number of groups meet in the metropoles for Sabotage. They are not connected with political groups or parties.
